SHELTER ON HALEAKALA

Plans Are Made for a New Summit Cave.

The Home Rulers Want a Citizens Ticket on Maui.

Overtures Made to Republicans Are Refused—Maui Girls Have a Polo Club.

MAUI, Aug. 29.—Several weeks ago Engineer Carl Waldeyer of Wailuku, accompanied by W. O. Aiken of Paia, visited the summit of Haleakala. After some investigation Mr. Waldeyer concluded that the plan of making a cave-shelter at the top for tourists was a most feasible one. He suggested that the floor of the cave be dug down two feet and that a room ten feet by fourteen feet be tunneled out, making a hole in the roof to allow the smoke of fires to pass out. The roof of the proposed apartment would, he thought, be fairly water-proof. Probably this project will not be pushed through now until next summer.

NEW LANDING AT MAALAE BAY. A new landing has been recently established on Maui at Keawakapu on the Maalaea Bay side of Makena. The Kula Planters and Merchants' Association of which Ahmo is president is the promoter of the scheme. The association has recently signed a five-year contract with Wilder Steamship Co. and the Kinau has lately been landing and receiving freight at the beach at Keawakapu. The association, it is reported, will immediately construct a proper wharf, which does not need to extend far out owing to the proximity of deep water. The Keawakapu landing is three miles nearer than Makena for the Kula corn and potato ranchers.

HOME RULERS WANT CITIZENS' TICKET.

Republican precinct clubs will hold meetings today, all over the island, for the purpose of electing county delegates.

There are now two complete Republican county slates made up, which though in many respects similar in regard to candidates, still have enough difference to cause somewhat of a contest in the September convention, unless a compromise is made, which is probable.

Leading Home Rulers have approached Republicans for a citizen ticket, but the latter prefer to stick to party lines. Republicans say that Home Rulers feel their weakness in regard to proper men for candidates. At Wailuku last night eighteen candidates were nominated to fill the seven places at the county convention.

WAILUKUS LOST. On the afternoon of the 23d at Wells Park, Wailuku, the Morning Stars beat the Wailukus at baseball—10 to 8. The latter were seven ahead until the fifth inning. From the fifth until the ninth the Stars had all the advantage. Johnny King pitched for the Wailukus for the first time. He may with practice develop a crack ball-tosser. The Wailukus have filed a protest with the secretary of the Athletic Association. The umpire failed to call a ball dead that had struck the batsman and rolled some distance away thus letting in some base runners. If the protest is decided in favor of the Stars, it means virtually awarding them the championship for 1903.

A MAUI DANCE. Saturday evening, the 22nd, a dancing party was given in the Hamakua-poko school house. About sixty of the young people of the vicinity were present. W. Lougher of Puunene was floor manager and a piano and string band furnished enlivening music. Mesdames Taylor and Peck and Miss Eva Smith were the hostesses of the occasion.

A BAD ACCIDENT. Engineer Lowell of the Paia plantation met with a serious accident on the 24th. While watching a Japanese breaking stone, near the Paia mill, a piece of rock flew upward, striking him just below the right eye, bursting the ball and letting the fluid out. He was taken to Puunene hospital where Dr. Rogers summoned from Honolulu by a wireless telegraph message has been attending him since Wednesday. There is just the slightest chance of saving the eye-ball but not the sight.

STRAY NOTES. Mr. and Mrs. A. Barnes of Honolulu have been the guests of Judge W. A. McKay of Wailuku during the week.

D. B. Murdock of Paia took Thursday's steamer for a business trip to Honolulu.

Senator and Mrs. C. H. Dickey and Mrs. Grace Waterhouse arrived on Maui by the Nevada of the 22nd and will spend a month at Haiku.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cornwell of Waikapu returned from Honolulu by Wednesday's Maui.

By today's steamer Mrs. Chamberlain, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Aiken of Makawao, for several months, returned to San Jose via Honolulu.

Miss Couledge of Paia departed today to accept a position of teacher in Kawaihahao Seminary of Honolulu.

The Paia and Hamakua-poko girls have formed a polo club.

C. J. Austin of the Territorial agricultural department is visiting at J. W. Fleming's of Grove Ranch.

Mr. Pope of the Honolulu Normal School made a trip to Haleakala during the week.

Dr. G. S. Aiken has been at Puunene during the week and Dr. P. Frear of Honolulu has been at Wailuku.

On the afternoon of the 28th a tea was given in honor of Mesdames C. H. Dickey and Grace Waterhouse at the home of Mrs. W. S. Nicoll of Hamakua-poko. Thirty ladies were present.

On the 23rd, on the Kuau (Paia) grounds, the Makawaos beat the Palas at baseball, 25 to 9. A large crowd was in attendance. On the 30th, the Makawao club will play the Hamakua-poko and the Paia will play the "Violets" of Pauwela.

Monday night, the 24th, a burglar, with a black cloth as a mask over his face, entered a Hamakua-poko residence through an open window, but was frightened away before he obtained any booty.

On the evening of the 28th a dancing party was given by Miss Catherine Smith in the kindergarten school building at Hamakua-poko. A stringed band played excellent music. Thirty-five young folk were present.

Saturday afternoon, the 22nd, at Paia, the "Yellow" again defeated the "Reds" at polo by several goals. The latter much miss D. C. Lindsay who is laid off by a broken wrist and W. O. Aiken who has not played on account of demands of business. Today the new polo ponies imported per steamer Nevada make their debut.

Weather: Pleasant with few showers and heavy trades.

LAHAINA NEWS FROM MAUI PAPER

Our Merry-Making Minstrels gave a highly successful and very amusing entertainment at the Lahaina Sacred Heart school last Saturday evening. The names of the performers are as follows: Karl Roendahl, E. Dunn, B. Ricard, D. Espinda, A. Freitas, Francis Nunes, Robert Aupuni and Moses Tili.

After a charming overture the first piece on the programme was a characteristic minstrel performance, reflecting much credit upon the leader, the end men and all others engaged. The jokes and conundrums were very comical and well chosen. The other pieces were a colloquy between a merchant and two drummers, medical comedy introducing several local allusions, and a finely executed pantomime. One of the numbers was written specially for the occasion by a professional gentleman. During the several intermissions Count von Zedwitz played some of his choicest violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Aalberg.

At the close of the entertainment, appropriate remarks were made by Rev. Father Ulencelas Bruning. A letter has been received from W. E. Reavis, late principal of Lahaina Seminary. He is at Los Angeles, Cal., and has a promising business project on hand.

Mrs. Halverson and her children arrived last Saturday. The family will occupy a new house, near the Cockett property.

A Japanese received fatal injuries from an explosion at Honokohau last week. He died within three hours.

The next term of the Kindergarten will commence on Monday, Sept. 7. There will be no change of teachers at present.

Mr. Henry Dickenson rode to his favorite mountain resort last week, but found the path obstructed by a lantern thicket.

C. A. McDonald, Mrs. McDonald and Miss McDonald arrived on August 25, and moved into the teacher's dwelling house at Lahaina on the following day. They came originally from Nova Scotia, and have lived in the States for several years. McDonald is a graduate of Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y. He also studied at the School of Technology at Potsdam, N. Y. Subsequently he was in charge of the machine shop at the institution, and taught mathematics and mechanical drawing. For the past six years he has been an instructor at the Kamehameha Schools in Honolulu.

Mrs. McDonald is a graduate of the Normal School at Truro, N. T. She formerly was a teacher at Hanport, N. S., and at Haverhill, Mass. She has taught in the Hawaiian Islands for four years, the last two of which have been at the Normal School in Honolulu. She will take the English department at the Seminary.

Miss McDonald is a graduate of Dalhousie College, Halifax, N. S. She is going to the Island of Hawaii.

It is expected that Archibald Dodds will take the mechanical department at Lahaina. Peter Pasco will give the boys instruction in growing taro.

At the Pioneer Mill a new building is in process of construction. It measures about seventy-five feet by forty. Two new boilers have been set; also new settling tanks.

HAD A VERY CLOSE SHAVE

Man Buried Seven Minutes in Coal.

Alaskan's Coal Passer Caught in Shifting.

Starts Journey in Fuel Bunker and Makes Underground Trip Arriving in Fire Room.

An Italian coal passer had a narrow escape from death and furnished a novel incident for story mongers on the last trip of the Alaskan to the Coast. He was absorbed by the run of coal in a coal bunker and arrived alive after a seven-minute passage through some forty feet of shifting coal.

"It was a few days after leaving Coronel," says First Mate Curtis, who spun the yarn, "when the Dago happened to slip and fall into the coal bunker. The coal we had aboard was much like Welsh coal in its free running qualities, and dropping into it, is a good deal like getting into quicksand."

"The Dago was up to his neck in the quickly shifting coal before he yelled for help. There was about seventeen hundred tons in that bunker and he had some thirty-five feet of coal underneath him."

"He was down in a sort of a well you may understand, with the coal forming the loose sides of the well and the rescue work was risky. Presently the sides started to slip and the rescue party had to get out for their own lives. The last we saw of the Dago was his finger tips."

"Then we got all hands we could and they started in the fire room shovelling like mad. They got out about twenty-five tons in something under six minutes. Captain Nicholson had not the time when we dodged the first avalanche and the Dago had been in there seven minutes. Of course we gave him up for dead. Then we saw his feet coming into the fire room with the run of coal. We got him out, gave him a drink of whiskey and in a few minutes he was passing coal once more."

"It's a mystery how he lived, but he got right in the run of the coal to the fire room and I supposed that saved him. He came up considerably aft of where he went down, starting in the bunker and arriving in the fire room."

"He was quite a hero in San Francisco and had his picture in the papers, but he doesn't seem to think he went through any thing very wonderful now."

FROG LEGS FOR SAN FRANCISCO

The frog industry of Hilo has risen to the dignity of an export trade. The Nevada, which cleared from Hilo on Wednesday last, has on her cargo list the following entry, over and above some 22,000 bags of sugar and seven hundred bunches of bananas. "Five hundred frogs."

The batrachians are supposedly alive and are destined for the San Francisco market where it is hoped they will be appreciated by Californian epicures with the result that "Hawaiian Frogs' legs" will soon be an important item on all coast menus that aspire to be up to date.

In the lack of more definite information the frogs are probably from the newly established grenouillerie of Mr. Wise. This is not the first shipment of Hilo nightingales and the variety is said to stand the trip excellently, their cheerful chorus reminding many a fo'castle hand of early days "down on the farm."

THE TANK.

As a striking lesson in simplicity and to show the mechanism of The Douglas supply tank, E. R. Bath has just installed an expensive and beautifully constructed glass display tank in his shop window.

The sides and front are of glass and permit a full view of the lever, valve, float and mechanical construction of the "Royal" tank.

It will be especially noticed that the simple contrivance that regulates the supply and flush, is almost impossible of getting out of order.

The inspection of the public is respectfully invited.

The tank is displayed at Bath's shop, 165 King street.
